DOUBLE NEW YORK MURDER

Owner of a Restaurant and His Clerk Victims of Band of Gunmen

AT LEAST TEN MEN TOOK PART IN AFFRAY

The Shooting Attracted Thousands of People Living in the Section Known as Little Italy—Evidence of a Gambling Quarrel.

NEW YORK, July 21. — Joseph De Marco, owner of a restaurant in a section of the city known as the Upper Tenderloin, and Charles Lombardi, a clerk, were murdered yesterday in an unoccupied flat of the tenement house at 54 James street, New York, by a band of "gunmen," who the police believe had a part in the Barnett Raff murder and several shootings in the "murder" stable on the upper East Side.

Two minutes after the shots that ended the lives of the victims were heard, the police entered the smoke-filled room. Twelve hats were all they found, with the two bodies. The police estimate that at least 10 men took part in the double murder. The bodies of De Marco and Lombardi bore evidence of many bullet wounds and were slashed repeatedly with stilettoes. A score of bullets were imbedded in the walls of the room.

According to the police, the murders are the outcome of a year's feud to establish the leadership of a gang of "gunmen" and horse poisons. The hats left behind have led to the identity of some of the assassins, the police declared. Deputy Police Commissioner Scull said last night he expects to capture the "gunmen" without difficulty.

The shooting attracted thousands of people living in the section known as Little Italy. Playing cards scattered on the floor of the room where the bodies were found led the police to believe that the murders were the result of a gambling quarrel. This theory was discarded when De Marco's body was identified. The police say he became the head of a gang following the murder of its leader in an upper East Side stable a year ago.

The police were informed that De Marco never traveled about the city unless accompanied by two "gunmen." They could not have been with him yesterday, the police concluded, or they would have been slain with their

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN ACCIDENT CASE

Seth C. Rich Brings Suit Against Frank B. Hutchins of Northfield for $10,000 Damages.

MONTEPELIER, July 21. — Another chapter to the now famous automobile accident on the Northfield road last August, when Mrs. Margaret Rich of Northfield was killed while a passenger in the Cross auto, has been added in Washington county court by the filing of a suit for alienation of his wife's affections in which the amount of damages is set up at $10,000, brought by Seth C. Rich of Northfield against Frank B. Hutchins, also of Northfield. The papers were served on Hutchins at Northfield by Constable J. M. Donahue. Dr. W. B. Mayo was recognized as surety for the defendant. The papers are from the office of C. G. Austin & Son of Northfield.

Mr. Hutchins was a passenger in the Cross automobile when it pitched over the bank and Mrs. Rich was killed by striking her head against a small elm tree. He runs a butcher shop in Northfield.

On April 14 last in Washington county court, the jury returned a verdict in favor of Seth C. Rich as administrator of his wife's estate in an action for negligence brought against George H. Cross. The verdict was for $1,500.

There is yet on the docket a suit by Rich personally against Mr. Cross, and a state case against Mr. Cross for alleged manslaughter.

Mr. Hutchins, who was one of the witnesses at the Cross trial, aroused interest at that time by his definition of a "gin rummy" which he said the members of the party had when in this city. Mrs. Green of Northfield was the fourth member of the party. All escaped injury except Mrs. Rich.

The case is returnable at the September term of county court.

SECOND CHILD IN SAME FAMILY DIES

Two Other North Adams, Mass., Cases of Infantile Paralysis Reported as Positive.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., July 21. — The death yesterday of William Gallon, Jr., the second child in the family of Mr. and Mrs. William Gallon to die of infantile paralysis, and the reporting as positive cases the illnesses of the two children in the Tarsa family in Mill street, Braytonville, are the developments in the infantile paralysis situation here today.

There is nothing to indicate that there will be any further spread of the disease. The board of health issued a statement today to the effect that everything of importance in connection with the present situation will be given out and nothing will be concealed.

The town of Williamstown has taken active steps to guard against all children going from this city, and it also refuses to allow children from that town to come here. Children were sent back today for the first time. House-to-house peddlers from this city were also sent back this morning when they tried to dispose of their wares in Williamstown.

MONEY TO BOYS ON BORDER.

Western Union Telegraph Co. Will Send It at Half Usual Rate.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. announces that until further notice it will make telegraphic transfers of money to members of the National Guard who have been mustered into the federal service at the Mexican border, at one-half the usual charges for such service.

It is understood that in their hurried departure many of the guardsmen failed to reckon on the high cost at the border of some of the conveniences and comforts which are not included in the provision which Uncle Sam makes for his soldiers, and their relatives and friends doubtless will be interested to learn of this arrangement whereby such appreciated funds can be quickly transferred by telegraph at a low cost. The proposition is the more attractive from the fact that messages of affection, cheer, etc., may be incorporated in the transfers at a small added charge for the extra words involved.

PLANNED TO BE RID OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Felch Arranged to Elope, It Is Said—Dr. Rowland Tells of Williams's Statements.

CHELSEA, Vt., July 21.—Dr. William R. Rowland was the main witness for the state yesterday at the trial in Orange county court of Otis Williams, indicted jointly with Anna Felch for the alleged murder of her husband, Joseph Felch, in Topsham last April.

Dr. Rowland testified that from Oct. 10 to 15 he was in daily attendance at the Williams house when the respondent's daughter was born. On the night of the child's birth, the witness said, Williams called him into the kitchen and approached the matter of his relations with Mrs. Felch. Williams said he was to leave that week for Meredith, N. H., where he was to be joined later by Mrs. Felch. He said he was physically run down and unable to do his work.

The doctor said he asked him if it was right to desert his wife and baby, to which Williams replied that he might soon tire of Mrs. Felch, but for the moment he was completely under her influence. He told the witness how Mrs. Felch had attracted his attention, even going to the fields to help him in his work on her husband's farm. He said Mrs. Felch had a bitter aversion for his wife, and believed her husband, who knew nothing of her love for him, to be in the way. He suggested she would find a means to rid herself of her husband, and it was Mrs. Felch's suggestion that he go to Meredith. She was to give him $100 and join him after she had withdrawn $100 from the bank, borrowed some money from a friend, taken what money was in her husband's pocketbook, sold a horse, cow and a pig, which were her property, which would bring the sum up to $400.

Dr. Rowland advised him not to be foolish. He called at the house twice afterwards, but did not meet the respondent. On Nov. 3, the witness said, he met him in the road. The respondent said he was then on his way home from Meredith, as Mrs. Felch had been unable to raise the $400.

Williams said he was going to buy back his furniture and live in the Paine house in Topsham. He assured the doctor that in the future things would be different. The next time the witness saw the respondent was at the home of George E. Mills at Topsham, and was informed that his relations with Mrs. Felch were the same as formerly. He did not see the respondent between that time and the day of the shooting.

Stanley C. Wilson, of counsel for the defense, asked the witness why he had never told Felch about his conversations with Williams. The doctor's answer was that he considered it a professional secret and also none of his business. The attorney asked if he would think a man crazy or a fool who would tell a stranger such a story on their second meeting.

The doctor replied that he did not consider Williams normal. Asked if he considered the prisoner crazy or mentally weak, the witness replied "Neither," that he was "psychologically quiet and not quite normal."

Pressed for an explanation, the doctor said he considered Williams' mentality "more or less below the average."

Mary Williams, wife of the respondent, was recalled during the morning session and asked about blood stains on handkerchiefs and white clothing found in the Williams house at the time of the search. She refused to admit that they were carried by her husband, and she could give no explanation how they became blood-stained.

SAYS DREAM REVEALED GOLD.

Farmer Took the Hint and Dug up Box Containing $5,000.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—William Heil of Brickerville, Pa., asserts that a dream revealed to him the hiding place of a can of gold, the property of John Bellemann, his predecessor on the farm.

Bellemann did not believe in banks and secreted his money. He died suddenly and did not reveal even to his wife where he had it secreted.

Heil's story is that he had a dream that he was digging for Bellemann's money in the haymow of the barn. He was about to give up the task when the spirit of Bellemann appeared and commanded him to dig on.

The next morning he went to the haymow, dug under the hay and found a tin box. He took it to the home of Mrs. Bellemann, who counted the contents, $5,000 in gold, and Heil was handsomely rewarded.

SAFETY

Factories, railroads, every place and everybody is advocating Safety nowadays. Why? Because it is a vital consideration. With it accidents are prevented, sickness diverted, and losses saved.

We have advocated SAFETY all along. We still believe in it strongly; in fact, it is SAFETY, accompanied with a high rate of interest, that stands out in all our securities. No customer has lost a cent during our thirty years' of business, and we are anxious to continue this record and negotiate our loans accordingly.

We believe in it too—"SAFETY FIRST!"
